NEED FOR MORE HIGHWAYS STRESSED IN LETEER BY TOY

Co-operation of All Peninsula Organizations Urged

Harvey M. Toy, chairman of the California Highway Commission, has sent a letter to every civic organization between San Francisco and Gilroy asking their aid in the interest of better highways down the peninsula. Toy has appealed to the civic organizations of the peninsula to put before the "committee of nine" appointed by Governor Richardson to make a survey of the highway needs of the state, the necessity of including the Bayshore and the Skyline roads in the program of state highways for the coming year.

Toy's letter reads as folows:

A traffic census taken Sunday, July 27th, showed 42,000 automobiles passing Redwood City on the Peninsula highway. This seems to me to be an unanswerable argument for another road into San Francisco and a call for immediate action on the part of every resident of San Francisco and the Peninsula district.

The Bayshore highway, running from Army street, San Francisco to South San Francisco, thence directly across the marsh land to Pacific City and San Mateo, thence directly to San Jose, going back to the congested towns, will solve to a great extent the terrific traffic jams that are upon us and will increase daily.

The City of San Francisco has agreed to pay $500,000 for the first unit of the Bayshore highway in San Mateo county from South San Francisco to Pacific City. The state should finish the job, as it is a road of great state-wide importance and should be taken over by the next legislature as a State highway and funds provided for its construction. A right of way 125 ft. in width should be provided.

All this can be accomplished if you really want this additional road and will help, and I believe you should for the good of San Francisco and the whole Peninsula district and in fact, the whole state. This is your problem .

A committee of nine has been appointed by Governor Richardson through authorization of the last legislature to report additions to the State Highway System and recommend methods of financing. This committee must be sold on the idea that in order to grow and prosper and have proper traffic facilities, this district must have the Bayshore highway from Army street to San Jose. It is of state-wide importance.

The Skyline boulevard should be extended from its terminal at Woodwardia to Salinas and Gilroy, making it a trunk line for through traffic. This would give San Francisco another through road.

My personal enthusiasm for these additions leads me to ask you to help bring this about. If we leave these important matters to the other fellow, they are never accomplished, so I am putting it right up to you. Won't you help by writing to W. F. Nixon, Secretary Highway Committee of Nine, Forum Bldg., Sacramento, and to Senator Arthur H. Breed Chairman Highway Committee of Nine, 101 Seaview Avenue, Piedmont, Oakland, giving them your opinion of these additions to the State Highway System.

T. P. Andrews, Chronicle Bldg., San Francisco is chairman of a committee of business men who are trying to help in this work. Won't you get in touch with him and offer your services? Every member of your organization should be interested and willing to help and this is the time right now as immediate action is imperative. May I hear from you?

Yours for adequate highways in and out of San Francisco,
HARVEY M. TOY.

WORK TO START ON BAY SHORE ROAD

Work will be started immediately on the first unit of the $7,000,000 Bay Shore Highway from San Francisco to Redwood City, which is expected to solve the peninsula traffic problem, it was announced this week by Harvey M. Toy, president of the state highway commission.

The initial contract for a 5 2-10 miles section was last Monday awarded by the commission to D. A. Foley and Company of Los Angeles.

This contract calls for grading and drainage work on the unit between South San Francisco and Broadway station, San Mateo county, at a cost of $298,000 for grading and $45,700 for drainage structures. Foley told the commission that he expected to complete the work by February 1, 1926.

The awarding of the contract was made possible by funds made available to the state highway commission by the San Francisco board of supervisors.

The road, Toy said, will eventually be built through to San Jose on a 100-foot broad right of way, straight line, no-grade plan and will materially reduce the mileage.

It is the announced plan of the state highway commission to carry on the construction of the highway in units as follows: No. 1, from Potrero and Army street, San Francisco, to the county line; No. 2, from the county line to South San Francisco; No. 3, from South San Francisco to San Mateo; No. 4 from San Mateo to a connection with the Middlefield road at Redwood City.

MISS ALICE CULLEN WEDS AT MT. CARMEL CHURCH

At a pretty wedding at Mt. Carmel Catholic church last Tuesday officiated at by Rev. Father C. E. Kennedy, Miss Alice Cullen became the bride of August Bordenave, who is connected with the Spring Valley Water Company at their Millbrae pumping plant.

The bride is the eldest of Mrs. C. Cullen of this city. For the past year she has been engaged as assistant secretary of the local chamber of commerce. The wedding which was followed by an elaborate wedding breakfast as the home of the bride's mother on Phelps street, was attended by about forty guests. Miss Clarise Cullen acted as brides-maid and Milton Johnson was best man. An unusual feature of the wedding was that the two latter announced their engagement some time ago, and exepect to be married soon.

Following the ceremony, the young couple left on a honeymoon from which they will return to make their home in San Francisco.

MRS. M. B. JOHNSON, WIFE OF SENATOR VISITS REDWOOD CITY

Mrs. M. B. Johnson, wife of Senator M. B. Johnson of Montara, was in Redwood City this week in the interest of her husband's campaign in the coming election. Senator Johnson was called east by the death of his father and brother, and it is not possible for him to personally canvass the district.

Senator Johnson, however, has an enviable reputation as a senator, and has represented his district in the past with credit to himself and to his constituents. Although the senator will not be here to make a personal campaign, he feels that the record he has already made will secure for him the support of the voters of this district. The work of the senator as chairman of the highway committee stands out well in the minds of the people of San Mateo county, and will, it is said, secure a heavy vote for the incumbent.

Mrs. Johnson is a daughter of the well-known publisher, Harr Wagner, and hopes to make her home here at no distant date. Mr. Wagner and his daughter, Miss Morris, have purchased a home site on the Woodside road, in the Kentfield tract and expect to build here, and it is the plan of the Johnsons to build near them.

AT ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING TUNNELING MT. IS DISCUSSED

Campaign of Publicity to be Started Giving Advantages of Project

At a meeting held in a local restaurant last Monday by the Exchange Club of San Mateo and Burlingame, who had as their guests the board of supervisors of the county, the Kiwanis Club of Redwood City and several prominent business men of various parts of the county, the proposition of tunneling the mountain between San Mateo and Halfmoon Bay was given a thorough discussion.

The meeting met at noon under the chairmanship of Judge Walter M. Bird, who after a few preliminary remarks turned the meeting over to Horace Amphlett, editor of the San Mateo Times. Amphlett called first upon Edwin H. Waner, a cival engineer of San Mateo, who had prepared data relative to the cost of building the tunnel, and who prepared the report recently placed before the board of supervisors relative to the advisability of the proposition.

Warner explained the present plans for the tunnel and gave the estimated cost of the work as about $1,050,000. This would amount to a tax of about $1.50 on each $1000 assessed valuation of the county for ten years. The tax would then be reduced to $1 on each $1000 for the next ten years.

All of the supervisors were present and all spoke in favor of the tunnel. Supervisor Manuel Francis of Halfmoon Bay urged that a railway connection be included in the plans. The people of the coast-side were solidly behind the proposition, he said, but the need of railroad communication was keenly felt on the coast.

One of the most fervent advocates of the proposition was John L. Debenedetti, manager of the Coastside Artichoke Growers Association. Others who spoke in favor of the tunnel were County Clerk Elizabeth M. Kneese; Fred Drake, San Carlos realtor; Judge Fletcher Cutler; County Engineer George Kneese; County Tax Collector, Ambrose McSweeny; Elmore Hinman, president of the Redwood City Kiwanis Club; Charles Lambert, Redwood City realtor; Attorney Barlow Furgeson of Burlingame; Frank Thrall of Burlingame; W. J. Martin of South San Francisco, and Dr. Brooke of Halfmoon Bay.

The concensus of opinion of the meeting appeared to be that the tunnel should be built. It was felt, however, that it would first be necessary to show the voters of the county the need for the tunnel before the matter of voting bonds for the proposition was put on the ballot. It was agreed to begin a campaign of popular education in the matter and it is likely that at a not very distant date the people will have the privilege of deciding upon the matter.

DAILY VACATION SCHOOL ENDS WORK THIS WEEK

The daily vacation school which has been maintained all during vacation by the Congregational church here, finished its labors yesterday. During the summer an average of 52 children attended this school. BANDIT RIFLES OIL STATION IN BROAD DAYLIGHT

A daylight bandit relieved those in charge of the "Y" service station at San Carlos of all necessity of counting the cash last Wednesday morning. With machines passing in both directions within a few yards of the scene of the holdup, the bandit calmly emptied the till of the station and drove away, carrying on a chatty conversation with the man in charge, during the operation.

The holdup occurred at about 10 o'clock in the morning. Phil Bray, who was in charge of the station at the time, went to the pump to wait on a Hudson car which stopped in front of the station. The man in the car climbed out and asked for a can of grease, which Bray returned to the station to get.

The stranger followed Bray into the station, and then stepping quickly behind him pushed a pistol against his back and ordered him to lay down and keep quiet. He then proceeded to empty the cash drawer and searched the station for any money that might be hidden.

Before leaving, the bandit cut the telephone wires so that no alarm could be given until he was out of danger. He then drove away at a high rate of speed towards San Francisco.

Bray has given a detailed description of the bandit to the sheriff's office, and it is thought that he may be traced by this description. He is described as of medium height, well dressed and with a pleasing personality. During the holdup he chatted pleasantly with his victim, whom he kept covered with a revolver. The car he was driving had no number plate in the rear. It is not known whether there was a plate in front or not.

Men are constantly growing better. You never see a coal-black, dyed and waxed mustache nowadays.

HENRY WITTE SELLS HIGHWAY FRONTAGE

Henry Witte, local realtor, this week sold a lot on the highway in the new Perry supdivision to M. Sarsfield, Redwood City taxi operator. This is the first lot to be sold in the new tract which comprises what was formerly the football field. Many other prospects are considering purchasing, according to Witte, and it is possible that the entire tract will soon be built up with fine business houses. Perry in selling the property has been careful of the uses to which the property is to be put, and has drafted rigid regulations in his deeds. None but first-lass fire-proof buildings can be erected.

Sarsfield is now considering plans for the erection of a two-story building on his lot, which is on the highway, and 100 feet from the corner of Broadway. The lower portion will be used as a taxi station and a delicatessen. The upper portion will be for apartments. Work will soon be started on the erection of this building.

This tract of land is laid out with a 25-foot driveway between the property frontage and the highway, thus allowing plenty of parking space for the frontage of the property. A wide alley is also laid out for access to the rear of all the lots in the division. Work in opening these roadways will be started immediately.

The chief matter to be taken up by the trustees was the matter of building a concrete culvert under the highway at James street. Principal Argo of the Sequoia Union High School appeared before the board and explained that the present ditch draining the high school grounds is being filled in to make room for the new atheletic field. A new ditch has been excavated along James street to take care of the winter water. The county has conpay a third. The other third of the cost of constructing the culvert, and the trustees last Monday agreed to pay a third. The other third of the cost will be taken care of by the school district.

A recommendation in writing was received from Fire Chief Ryan that the salaries of the regular firemen, B. L. Werder and Robert Bell, be raised to $175 per month. This recommendation was laid over until the next meeting of the board.

A map was presented to the board by City Engineer Dimmitt of the new subdivision recently laid out by J. B. Perry. REDWOOD CITY AS AIR PORT SET FORTH

C. of C. Puts Advantages Before Committee

A determined effort is being made by the local chamber of commerce to locate the municipal flying field of San Francisco on the field formerly occupied by the Christoffeson Aviation School on Chestnut street. The committee appointed by the mayor of San Francisco to select a location for the field have definitely decided upon the peninsula, according to reports, and a committee appointed by the local chamber of commerce, is endeavoring to have the field located here.

The committee of the local organization consists of F. K. Towne, Daniel R. Stafford, William Clarkson and C. H. Holt. The following letter addressed to Supervisor Mary Morgan of San Francisco, who is chairman of the committee to select the site, was sent by the local cimmittee this week:

Margaret Mary Morgan,
Chairman, Aviation Site Committee, City Hall, San Francisco, Cal.
Dear Madam:

The chamber of commerce of Redwood City desires to call the attention of your committee to the Christoffeson aviation field, located in our city.

This property consists of 200 acres, and has been used for years as an aviation field. During the war aviators were trained here for the government—in fact, a large hanger still remains on the property.

We know most of the government aviators are familiar with the field. Lieutenant Maughan, in his recent dawn-to-dusk flight, was advised to land here, if conditions in San Francisco were unfavorable.

The title of the tract is vested in the Bank of Italy, who will sell the same for $300 per acre. Comparatively, this is the lowest priced piece of property anywhere on the peninsula, suitable for aviation purposes.

Should your committee be unacquainted with the climatic conditions of Redwood City, we are enclosing a section of our booklet, showing a table derived from government statistics.

We shall be pleased to call for your committee in San Francisco and show you over this field at any time, by automobile.

Respectfully submitted
REDWOOD CITY CHAMBER OF COMMERCE
By C. H. Holt, President

Yesterday the committee went to San Francisco to confer with the San Francisco committee and it is hoped that some definite plans may be made. At the time of writing, however, no word has been received from the local men as to the result of their efforts.

THIRD SUIT FILED AGAINST SPRECKELS

The third suit to result from an accident to Louis Bosse, gardener at the Burlingame Country Club, who was run down and injured by a machine belonging to Rudolph Spreckels and driven by his daughter, Claudine Spreckels, was filed this week by the New Amsterdam Insurance Company. The new suit names Spreckels, his daughter and Miss Helen Marye, of Burlingame as defendants. The insurance company has all the employees of the Burlingame Country Club insured under the employers compensation law, and seeks to recover $25,000.

The accident occured August August 3 of last year when Bosse was leaving the grounds of the Country Club. He is said to have been struck by the machine driven by Miss Spreckels. Miss Marye was a passenger in the machine.

When he begins by saying, "I won't take up any of your time," he's going to.

A CONTRACT was let this week by the State Highway Commission for the construction of the first unit of the Bay Shore highway, which when completed will connect San Francisco and San Jose and will parallel the present highway. The route laid out for the new road will be over the marshes east of Redwood City; it will cross Redwood creek near Frank's tannery and will join the Middlefield road. This new artery of travel will form the main route for transbay travel, as it will form the western approach to the Dumbarton bridge which is soon to be built. We believe that the new road will be more traveled than the present highway. This should mean much for the development of Redwood City, but unless Redwood City meets the road half way it will not be as productive of results for our city as it could be. At present an unbroken wall of buildings separates the main part of Redwood City from the proposed route of the road. The road will pass right by the town, and those who drive along will not realize that they are in Redwood City. Broadway should be the connecting link between these two great highways, but unless an opening is made between Main and Walnut streets it never can be.

We have formerly advocated opening Broadway through to the other side of town to connect with Hilton street because of the building of the cement works, the new P. G. & E. substation and other industrial projects in that section. We now advocate it more than ever to put Redwood City on the route of the new road. The business of the town demands that this opening be made.

TEN YEARS OF HISTORY

TEN years ago this week the world was startled from its reverie by a gun shot in Europe; cablegrams told of German troups marching into Belgium; military units were mustering throughout Europe, and the world was well launched on one of the most frightful wars in the pages of history. We didn't know that ten years ago. The world laughed at Lord Kitchner when he warned England to prepare for a three-year war. To us in California, at least, the revolution of president Huerta in Mexico reports of which appeared side by side in our papers with the rumpus in Europe, attracted greater attention. Not for long, however, for extras were soon on the streets telling of England's joining the conflict, and then one nation after another joined in the great war until the United States itself was fighting for liberty and democracy. Ten years ago—yet what changes have occurred within that decade; national changes, international changes, and hardly a family whose existence has not been modified more or less by the scourge which has swept the world. Maps of the world which were used in our schools ten years ago are of no more use today, as far as present day conditions are concerned than the reports of John Maundiville would be. Nations have been made,others enlarged; others almost abolished. New names appear in press reports which would have been unknown ten years ago, and conditions in those countries are no less changed.

FARMING OUR NATIONAL GREATNESS

WTH wheat and cotton advancing, Thansgiving ime will see the American farmer farther along toward normal conditions than the manufacturer or wholesaler or retailer.

The Burlington, Iowa, Post says:

"While we do not accept statements as to deplorable farming conditions unreservedly the fact that agriculture, our basic industry, should even be suspected of insolvency, is sufficient to excite wonder.

"There was an unconscious wisdom in the failure of congress to legislate for the relief of the farmer; for, if the farmer is in such a fix that legislation only can save him, then there is little use for the American people to make any further efforts toward National greatness.

"The farmer has his periods of fat and lean, but there never has been a time when he was justified in being discouraged. He may need, now organization, a change in methods, or access to new markets, but he cannot be placed in the way of prosperity by legislation or by government loans. The farmer who starts from the bottom can rely upon himself; his industry, thrift and frugality in excess of all normal requirements; for it to be otherwise would mean that civilization is a failure."

LET US TAKE HEED

THE present sugar situation is not at all satisfactory to England which is too much dependent upon Cuba for its supplies. England had a fright when the war began about the item of sugar. A number of English people are in favor of subsidizing the beet sugar industry in the British Isles to make that nation more independent of foreign sugar supplies.

"Nothing would do more to remedy agricultural unemployment, "says Lord Bearsted, "than the cultivation of beet sugar. It employs more people per acre than almost any other crop.

"Why pay doles to a million people for not doing any work at all," he asks, "when they might be set to work growing beets and working in sugar factories."

Taking the whole world over, the proportion of beet to cane sugar is now four to nine.

Is not this situation in in England an object lesson for the United States? Should we not encourage our own sugar beet industry by every legitimate means? During the war it saved us from being absolutely dependent upon foreign sources of supply.

We should lead the world in development of the beet sugar industry.

TEMPORARY FOOTPATH ON WORLD'S GREATEST SUSPENSION IS BEGUN

Darcbil workmen placing the first sections of the temporary footpath which will be used in the gigantic task of spanning the Delaware River between Camden, New Jersey, and Philadelphia, Pa., the world's longest suspension bridge. The footpath is being started from the Philadelphia main tower 385 feet in the air. The suspension is 1,750 feet long, 118 feet longer than the one spanning the Hudson at Peckskill. The expense of the Delaware span to be borne by the two states will be approximately $29,000,000.

SACRED COWS CAUSE A RIOT

Six persons were killed and more than 100 wounded in a riot between Mohammedans and Hindus at Delphi, British India. The disturbance was caused by what is described as the aggressive attitude of the Mohammedans, who persisted in carrying cows for sacrifice through the prohibited area where the Hindus live.

The Mohammedans are declared to have entered the Hindu streets, breaking open and setting fire to the houses and desecrating idols. The military was called out with armored cars and forced to fire on the mob. There were no casualtigs from the fire. The casualties occurred in the street disturbances.

Order was restored after four hours. Cavalry reinforced the police pickets.

MADE MONEY TOO FAST

Gagriel Babai, a native of Damascus, has been sentenced to nine years' hard labor for forging English pound notes to the amount of $2,500,000. A printing press and other implements were found in a villa near Vienna, where the accused had lived a secluded life for some months. The prosecution alleged that practically all the notes had been disposed of, and suspicions were only aroused when Babai repeatedly deposited large sums at the banks.

The matter of granting a new franise was given careful consideration the board of supervisors and was ferred to District Attorney Frank Swart for an opinion. Swart rerned the franchise and stated that saw no reason why it should not granted. "In fact," he said, this franchise covers some points at I thought should have been cov ed in the other franchise." Swart en stated his opposition to the pedling of public franchises by priate individuals. In this he reerred to the sale of the Coyote oint franchise by Col. Webb.

At Haggett's suggestion, Davenporte R. Phelps, secretary of the South San Francisco chamber of commerce, was appointed to take the matter up where Haggett was forced to leave it.

A request was received from the Burlingame school district for the board to advertise for sale all bonds issued by the district which had not been sold. The county clerk was ordered to advertise the bonds for sale.

SOUVENIR HUNTERS RUIN EXHIBITS

The insatiable craze of souvenir hunters in playing havoc with the costly exhibitions at the British Empire exhibition at Wembley, near London. Visitors just can't make their hands behave, the police say, and hundreds of small articles, most of them without value, are disappearing daily from the various pavillions, despite the vigilance of the guards.

A magnificent ivory model of an Italian building has been ruined by people knocking off small bits, and a stuffed tapir is rapidly becoming bald because people pull hairs as they pass by. The officials have had to resort to glass cases to keep the more valuable exhibits intact.

Chief Justice Myers Heads Relief Work

CALIFORNIA A GENEROUS CONTRIBUTOR TO CAUSE

Annual Report to U. S. Congress is Reviewed.—60,000 Children Trained; Thousands Encouraged to "Carry On"

Louis W. Myers, Chief Justice of the California Supreme Court, whose picture appears below, has accepted the invitation of the Executive Committee of Near East Relief to act as chairman for Northern California,

LOUIS W. MYERS
Chief Justice Calif. Supreme Court

Nevada and Hawaii. Judge Myers fills the post left by Judge Curtis D. Wilbur's acceptance of the Secretaryship of the Navy and removal to Washington, D. C.

"I'm very glad to do whatever I may to further the splendid work of the Near East Relief, although I cannot hope to fill the large vacancy created by the resignation of Judge Wilbur," Judge Myers writes in accepting the chairmanship.

Judge Myers' entrance into Near East Relief work was marked by extensive contributions to the fund, including 55 tons of raisins given by Fresno Armenians and four carloads of used clothing contributed by citizens of San Francisco, Berkeley, Oakland and Alameda.

The new chairman is now calling attention to the latest annual report of the Near East Relief to Congress, which, among other things, tells how America rescued 250,000 people from certain death, saved 16,000 orphans from blindness, restored 14,159 orphans to home life and self support, gave medical aid to 22,000 people, although twelve physicians died while fighting typhus; clothed 505,200 refugees, accomplishing these results in spite of obstacles that would have daunted any one except an Anglo-Saxon.

Moving 20,000 children a distance of hundreds of miles until practically all of the Armenian children are out of Turkey; feeding, clothing, housing and training 60,000 children; graduating boys and girls at the age of 16 to make their own way as mechanics for railway shops, instructors in nursing, school teachers, skilled artisans and farmers; giving faith, hope and courage and the will to fight back to self support to thousands of people—all these are but a few of America's achievements in the Near East last year.

These and other facts are found in the annual report, copies of which may be secured on application to Near East Relief, 333 Mills Building, San Francsico.

"The achievements, great as they are, give us no sense of pride," states Judge Myers. "Only a sense of gratitude that we have been able to do as much as we have and of regret that we could not do more. Last year at one time our Near East Relief workers were surrounded by dying men, women and children at five relief stations at once. A heart-broken relief worker took down the orphanage sign from his overcrowded orphanages because there was no further room and children continued to come, pleading for admission.

The report closes with urgent recommendations from 15 prominent Americans recently in the Near East that the work be continued until the children now in the orphanages are brought to self-support and that the needs of the hundreds of thousands of other helpless children in the Near East be urged upon America. Among those signing these recommendations are John H. Finley, editor of the New York Times; ex-Goxernor Allen of Kansas; Dr. Cavert, Secretary Federal Council of Churches; Bishop Cannon, M. E. Church; Mrs. Alice Hegan Rice.

S. F. APPROPRIATES MONEY FOR WORK ON SANITORIUM

The San Francisco Board of Supervisors last week appropriated the sum of $10,000 for clearing the site of the proposed tubercular hospital which is to be built in the hills just west of Redwood City. Work on the hospital will be started immediately.

The site of the proposed hospital is near the eastern portal of the Pulgas tunnel, near the summit of the first range of hills. When completed the hospital will be one of the finest in the state, and the city of San Francisco is planning to spend large sums of money for its beautification and the improvement of its surroundings. The institution will be maintained for the tubercular patients of San Francisco, and those now in the St. Francis hospital will be removed to the new location upon its completion.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE COUNTY HORTICULTURAL COMMMISSIONER

Weather Conditions Have Been Very Unfavorable for Eradication of Ground Squirrels

For Fiscal Year Ending June 30, '24

To the Honorable Board of Supervisors, San Mateo County:

Notwithstanding the lack of rainfall, the unsatisfactory returns received by growers for most fruit crops in 1923, and other unfavorable conditions, the importations of nursery stock this year, while considerably below last season, almost equalled those of 1922. An anticipated shortage of water no doubt caused many people to refrain from planting ornamentals and the effect of poor market returns on the demand for plants is well exemplified in the case of bush berries. 1922 was a good year for the growers, and the imports and exports for the spring of 1923 amounted to 455,623, but last year the price received for the berries in many cases hardly paid expenses, consequently but 83,197 plants were offered for inspection of which but 17,096 were planted in the county and approximately 20 acres of black berries were plowed up. This occurred in other berry growing sections, also and, as a result of decreased production, the fruit is bringing a better price this summer.

The total nursery stock inspections for the year were 3,947 shipments of 1,833,968 plants and packages divided as follows: ornamental, 281,451, with 1548 shipments, fruit and nut trees shipments 1,230 trees, 34,267, bush berries, 441 shipments, 83,197 plants, peas, beans, etc; 26 shipments, 81 sacks seed potatoes 64 shipments 16,799 sacks; grapes 103 shipments, 14,563 vines; packages of seed, 295 shipments, 2,732 packages; household goods, from alfalfa weevil infested territory; 21 shipments 178 pieces; miscellaneous 10 shipments 2,213 trees and plants, ornamental special export inspection 7 shipments 6,093 plants, and strawberries 131 shipments and 1,385,990 plants.

Of the fruit and nut trees, the most of any one variety were pears, 14,313 trees or about 5,000 more than last year, peaches are next with 3,427 trees; plums 3,216; apricots, 2,674; apples, 2,508; cherries, 1,801; prunes 794; almonds 758; walnuts 685; figs 612; olives 335; nectarines 148; persimmons, 114; pomegranates, 93; balance miscellaneous.

13,656 plants and trees were held in quarantine during the season. Of these 4,132 were returned to the shipper or destroyed, the balance being sprayed or fumigated and delivered to the consignee.

San Mateo County has fortunately escaped to date any infection of the foot and mouth disease, but the quarantine established by various neighboring states have worked a hardship upon the vegetable growers of the district, not only by the annoyance and expense caused by their requirements, such as fumigation, etc., but in some instances their products have actually been refused admission, and there has also been a lessened demand on account of fear of contagion. The U. S. Department of Agriculture has helped out wonderfully by its co-operation with our own state department and at present vegetables and fruits from non-infected areas are recieved into all states when properly certified by the horticultural commissioner of the county in which the shipment originates. With the exception of two states, Washington and Nevada, fumigation is no longer required for fruits and vegetables but all states insist that they are grown in non-infested areas and are so certified by the commissioner. The appointment of the county horticultural commissioners as federal officers is largely the reason for the lessening of the embargoes. They are thus given greater authority to regulate shipments. From the 21st of April, when we first began issueing certificates, to the end of the fiscal year, we have certified to 229 shipments of which 159 were full carloads of vegetables.

Weather conditions have been very unfavorable for the eradication of squirrels, particularly in the low lands, where considerable carbon bisulphide or ordinarily used as it has been too dry for entirely satisfactory use of this material. There is noted, therefor, a decrease in amount, but 1462 gallons and 84,480 waste balls being used for the season, and 11,931 acres treated. Last year 3200 gallons of carbon were used and 23,958 acres treated, so there is a decrease of over half. There was also aslight falling off in the amount of poisoned barley used, 24,169 pounds, about 500 pounds less than last year, but there was an increase of over 5,000 acres treated with barley, 44,072 acres having been poisoned.

The average cost of labor and material to the farmer, as shown by the average of 35 farms taken at random in different parts of the county, was 9.6 cents per acre when barley was used and 23.6 cents per acre when carbon bisulphide was used.

The cost of the supervision of the work, to the county has been $2880.00 which amount has been paid the United States Public Health Service as automobile allowance for inspectors.

As is generally true in dry years, injurious insects have been present in unusually large numbers this season, and a much larger amount of spraying and dusting has been necessary. In most instances the methods of eradication or prevention adopted have proven entirely satisfactory, but in some individual cases they have not been successful. This may be due to various causes such as unfavorable weather conditions, too late in applying the material, and this is usually the reason of non-success—lack of thoroughness in applying. Aphids have caused the most damage to economic plants with an occasional severe infestation of thrips on beans and squash. Grasshoppers have been very injurious in a limited district.

One of the most injurious insect pests with which we have to contend not only in this county, but throughout the state, is the mealybug. So far this insect has confined its attacks to ornamental plants in this section but in the south it infests the citrus fruits and in other districts, pears and other fruits. Pears from Santa Clara, Alameda, and other counties where mealybugs are known to occur are not admitted to Hawaii, Australia, and some other countries. So far, by careful inspection of trees and plants, we have kept them out of the pear district of this county but undoubtedly they will become established there in time, just as they have on our ornamentals and in our nurseries, where they are causing tremendous annual loss. Spraying is of doubtful value under local conditions for the entire eastern side of the county is practically a park planted with a great variety of evergreens, many varieties of which are host plants to mealybugs. These evergreens cannot be sprayed so thoroughly that there are not some living insect remaining somewhere which the ants promptly spread all over again. It seems evident that the possible remedy, then, is biological control, that is, the control by the use of insect parasites. The state at one time furnished different species of parasites, usually ladybugs of various kinds, to parties desiring them, but this has been discontinued since the demand has become so great, and the county or individual desiring to make use of parasites for insect pest control, must rear their own. Most of the citrus growing counties have at least one insectary, some of them two and three, for rearing these beneficial insects, and many of the large citrus growers have their private establishments. It has been suggested that an insectary could be established in the bay counties as a sort of community affair, to be maintained by the various counties interested. Personally I do not believe this would be satisfactory. I feel that each county should have its own, so we could be assured of an ample supply of ladybugs available when needed and there could be no dispute over distribution as might be the case in an arrangement co-operative in nature. However, the whole question is for the property owners to decide, for funds must be provided before any action can be taken.

Respectfully submitted,
A. W. TAITE, JR.,
Horticultural Commissioner, San Mateo County.

COUNTY RESIDENT FOR SENATOR JOHNSON

State Senator, M. B. Johnson, is a candidate for re-election from this district. The voters will remember with favor, how, as chairman of the County Highway Commission and of the Senate Committee on Good Roads, he worked faithfully for the interests of the people. Mr. Johnson, along with Mr. John MacBain, the late Joe Francis and others, were not only instrumental in getting the paved roads in the county put through under the bond issue, but they were able to secure quick action from the State Highway Commission in getting the State Highway through the county. Mr. Johnson has gained the reputation of being one of the hardest workers in the senate.

On account of the death of his father and of a brother, in the East he has had to remain in the East for several months, so that he will not be able to be back in time to make a personal canvass of the district. However, if elected, Mr. Johnson will be able to devote his entire time to the interests of the people during the sessions of the legislature.

LOCAL WOMAN WITNESS OF STEAMER DISASTER

Word was received here this week by Mrs. ——— Low from her daughter, Mrs. Albert Pearson, telling of her experiences during the night of the wreck of the Steamer Boston off Point Judith, Mass., when rammed by the tanker Swiftarrow.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Pearson, who are now residing in San Francisco, left on the Steamer Manchuria for New York on June 28. From New York Pearsons were making side trips to the various points of interest along the Atlantic seaboard. It was in the course of one of these trips, when on board the Steamer Commonwealth, bound for Fall River, Mass., that distress signals were received from a sinking steamer, the Boston, who had been rammed broadside by the Union Oil tanker, Swiftarrow.

In her letter to her mother, Mrs. Pearson tells vividly of the scene of the wreck, how the lifeboats were seen helpless in the fog. The sinking steamer was finally saved by being lashed parallel with the Commonwealth, after attempts to tow the disabled ship had proved futile.

SCIENTISTS TO EXPLORE SIBERIA

More than 200 scientists, explorers, geographers and their assistants have left Leningrad under the auspices of the Leningrad Academy of Sciences to explore the little-known island of Novaya Zemlya, in the Artic ocean, north of Siberia.

The expedition, directed by Professor Matousevitch, will survey the geological, ethnical, geographical and other features of the island, and then go to the Straits of Matochkin Shar, which connect the Kara sea and the Barents sea, in an endeavor to find a safe passage for Russian merchant vessels.

A "CHARGE BY PLATOONS" IN THE STATES RUSH, UTAH AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE

The annual "States Day" at the famous national summer school of Utah Agricultural College, Logan, Utah, is celebrated in a number of striking ways. The students, who hail from nearly every commonwealth in the American Union, engage in novel contests and weird and colorful campus events. In the "States Rush" recently each girl who took part in the sanguinary conflict was equipped with a shield representing her home state. The fair feminine fighters battled with padded spears and volley balls. This photo shows a charge by platoons in the "States Rush."

TUB PARTIES POPULAR IN BERLIN

Bath parties are all the go in Berlin just now. In order to economize on coal, all apartment house owners have stopped the daily supply of hot water, providing it only twice a month, or in some of the more expensive houses, one day each week.

As a consequence, neighbors have taken to the exchange of bathing privileges, and have regular schedules. "Hot water day" is the event of the week among apartment dwellers, and after the family bathes, favored neighbors are invited in from other houses and they reciprocate when their good day rolls around.

Life seems to consist largely of trying to get somewhere that we won't want to be if we arrive.

NEW CITY INCORPORATED IN SAN MATEO COUNTY

An election held last Friday in the northern portion of the county added a new city to the list of incorporated towns on the peninsula. The new city is Lawnsdale, and includes all of the cemeteries in the northern portion of the county.

The petition for the calling of an election for incorporation was filed with the county clerk several weeks ago. Immediately following the filing of the petition for the incorporation of Lawnsdale (then called City of Memorial Parks) a petition was filed by Colma asking for the incorporation of that town and including most of the territory included in the first petition.

A situation very similar to that which occured at the time of the filing of the rival petitions of Atherton and Menlo Park, and the relative merits of the two petitions formed the basis of long arguments before the board of supervisors by both sides. The matter was finally settled by granting the Lawnsdale petition first. The election was therefore held last Friday.

The following were elected as the first board of trustees of the town: M. Jensen, W. A. Newall, C. Newall, Claude Strahm and Joseph Lagomarsino. The first clerk will be Edward Welsenburger, and the first treasurer Henry Kents. Jensen, by virtue of receiving the largest number of votes, will become the mayor.

The results of the election as canvassed by the board of supervisors at their meeting Monday showed that 39 votes were cast in favor of the incorporation and 36 votes were cast against it. The land included in the new city embraces the Mount Olivet, Woodlawn, Greenlawn, Holy Cross, Cypress Lawn, Home of Peace, Hills of Eternity, Salem and Eternal Home cemeteries.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

From the Times-Gazette of August 12, 1899

Lawrence Heiner left town Sunday for South San Francisro to take up his duties as principal of the school there.

Robert Brown has secured the contract to build the new bank. There were eleven bids ranging all the way from $10,000 to $14,000. Mr. Brown was not the lowest bidder, but the directors of the bank decided to give the preference to the local contractor who has made a reputation for doing good work.

The Peninsula Lighting Company of this city closed a contract with the Standard Electric Company, whereby the latter company is to furnish power for the local plant. The source of this power is the Blue Lakes system in Alpine county. The company will not only bring power to Redwood City but will give reliable service at a rate so low as to entirely do away with the necessity of maintaining the local coal-consuming plant.

The hunting party that went in search of deer in Mount Hamilton has not sent friends the venison as promised. Late news would indicate that Will Murray and M. Carter have got into trouble for shooting a farmer's heifer, mistaking it for a "buck."

Among the distinguished visitors at the Swanton house in Pescadero last week were Lord and Lady Shinwald, and Sir and Lady Bates of London.

Senator Charles M. Shortridge is once more in journalistic harness, having recently purchased the San Jose Herald, which is a Democratic organ. Under Mr. Shortridge's management the paper will be Republican and represent the Jim Rea faction of the Republican party in Santa Clara county. Mr. Shortridge is a first-class newspaper man with a wide experience, and he will surely raise the standard of the Herald.

CUTLER BONESTELL RESIGNS AS ATHERTON TRUSTEE

A letter written from Boston by Cutler Bonestell, millionaire paper dealer and trustee of the Town of Atherton, who is now touring the world was received at the meeting of the board of trustees last Wednesday evening. In his letter Bonestell explained that he will be absent from Atherton for a long period and that he has not decided definitely when he will return. Bonestell requested that the board appoint someone in his stead, and Joseph Donohoe, San Francisro banker, was appointed to fill the unexpired term. Donohoe is a resident of the tract recently annexed to Atherton. The results of the election for this annexation were gone over and the same declared annexed to Atherton. This territory included a large tract between Atherton and Menlo Park, and includes several wealthy residents.

RECKLESS DRIVING BRINGS HEAVY JAIL SENTENCE

Reckless driving and failing to notice that Broadway ends at Main street caused P. S. O'Toole a sentence of 125 days in the county jail. O'Toole, who is employed in the plant of the Portland Cement works here was driving along Broadway at a rapid rate last Sunday morning and ran into a car in which Bud Kellogg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Kellogg of this city, was sitting, and which was parked against the curb across Main street.

O'Toole was arrested by Officers McAuliffe and Douglas and appeared before Recorder Albert Mansfield on Monday. Mansfield in sentencing O'Toole delivered a scorching lecture on reckless driving and declared his intention of showing no leniency toward reckless drivers of automobiles.

DEFENSE DAY TEST

Editor Times Gazette:

September 12th next has been designated as the day for the first National Defense Test mobilization in honor of General Pershing who then retires from active duty. It bids fair to be a test in more ways than one—a test not only of the readiness of those who have taken the soldier's oath to respond to duty, but also of the willingness of those others within our borders who bear the name of citizen, to show the character of their citizenship. Sometimes it is well to find out just how deep this mantle of citizenship is, by scratching the surface somewhat. In this Defense Test, we ask nothing of him who does not owe an oath of allegiance to the United States of America.

Officially, the Defense Test is only for the regular army, the National Guard and the organized reserves. It is only since the great war that we have had a real national military policy. That policy is set forth in the National Defense Act, as amended by Act of Congress aproved June 4, 1920. It is based on, and in view of, the non-military character of the population of this country. The problem is, can a suitable plan for national defense be debeloped and put into effect and maintained efficiently in a non-military population, without the medium of a large standing army. If the people will co-operate, it is believed that such a plan is feasible and that it is ideally set forth in the present plan for a small regular army and a small national guard, but with a reserve corps of officers sufficient in number to command forces equal in strength to that of the other two. The reserve corps is fairly well organized but as yet it has been subjected to no test. National Defense Day will show whether the reserve officers apreciate their responsibilities, and whether they will get any backing rom their fellow citizens. In other words is the idea of having persons in civilian life qualified for officer work a good one, or must we rely, for defense of the country only on the professional soldier, who is taken out of civilian work and dedicated to military duty exclusively.

If the reserve idea will not work, then there is only one alternative and that is a standing army several times larger than the present one. It is believed that there are sufficient people with real patriotism in their veins to demonstrate that the plan based on a small standing army and thus better adopted to our non-military character can succeed.

Of course there are some people in this country who will not cooperate in any such a patriotic move. The first objections came from that portion of the country in which sedition was most rampart during the war. Slackers will always bob up and that is the best thing about them, because one becomes once aware of their traitorous tendencies. Then we have the conscientious objectors. They do not believe in war. It hurts, and they do not think people should be hurt—that is by themselves. They, of course, are quite willing to take advantage of the hurts and sacrifices of others, both past and present. Everything we possess in civilization has been gained by struggle, and will be only maintained through struggle. Well, I suppose we have to put up with those kind of people. They daubtless think that they think that they are doing right. The only regret one has is that he has to strive to preserve life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness for such. War will not cease until the world organizes to fight against war, and that result will never be brought about by slackers and such like.

San Mateo and Burlingame have plenty of patriotic people in their midst, and these have an opportunity to show what is in them on National Defense Test Day.

NEWS OF MENLO PARK

After an illness of three weeks, Joseph Broggi, a respected pioneer of this community, passed away surrounded by his family on Thursday. The immediate cause of death was pneumonia, the third attack of the dreaded disease in five years. Mr. Broggi was a resident of Menlo Park for over forty-two years. Coming here from his home in Sunny Italy, he found employment as a gardener for the Atherton estate, where he worked until his retirement a number of years ago. Mr. Broggi was a shining example of the highest type of American citidenship, beloved and honored by all who knew him. His home life was ideal. He never was so happy as when he was in the bosom of his family, the members of which will sorely miss his advice, comforting words and kindness. His oldest daughter, Rose, left some weeks ago for a trip to Honolulu, where she is now, and will not return for three weeks. She will not be made acquainted with her father's demise. Besides the widow, the deceased is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Harry Morey, Mrs. Boyd Braden and Miss Rose Broggi. The deceased was a native of Italy, aged 76 years. The funeral will take place from the Church of the Nativity this morning, the requiem mass beginning at 10 o'clock. Interment will be in the Holy Cross cemetery.

Miss Margaret Harrington, a Menlo belle, gave a party at her home on Pine street to her girl friends from Redwood City, Menlo Park and Palo Alto. About twenty guests enjoyed a pleasant evening of dancing, games and social converse, the gaities closed with a tempting meal of the season's choicest viands. The pretty hostess demonstrated her cleverness in the manner in which she received and entertained her guests. Miss Harrington graduated from Sequoia one of the best high schools in the state, last June.

George Roos and family will return next week from an eighteen months' tour of Europe. The Speikers, who have occupied the attractive Roos home at Aatherton, will return to their city home.

Several of the Peninsula papers have done an injustice to the barbers of Menlo Park, who are law-abiding citizens and good tonsorial artists. In giving an account of a recent bootlegging raid reference was made to one, J. E. Lennox, who conducted a barbershop on the highway at Menlo Park. This man has never operated a shop here and is not known in this vicinity. From a casual reading of the article one would think that a Menlo barber was running a blind pig. Such is not the case.

Miss Jessica Smith of Menlo Park is spending a few weeks' vacation with friends in Modesto.

Weeden Brothers, who have the contract for the new addition to the grammar school, assure the trustees that they will have the two class rooms in readiness for the opening of the fall term of the school on August 24. The stipulated price of the contract is $5660, all to be paid from the contingent fund of the district. There will be no special tax, thanks to the wisdom and business ability of the trustees.

A towering live oak in front of the old Toby home on Willow avenue succumbed to the woodman's ax last Friday. When the aged tree that has pointed heavenward for centuries toppled and fell its branches caught on the electric light wires and as a conseuence a portion of the community was without current for several hours.

The two blooded dogs, belonging to Mrs. Joseph Donohoe, returned home Wednesday after a mysterious disappearance of several days, during which time their absence had been reported to the police of the peninsula cities. The dogs, one of which is a great Dane and the other a sheep dog, are valued very highly by Mrs. Donohoe.

Letters from Miss Regina Harrington of Menlo Park indicate that she is enjoying her trip across the continent. She is a member of the excursion conducted by the Knights of Columbus of San Francisco.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Samuelson of Fresno were week-end guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. I. Frederick on Oak Grove avenue. Mr. Samuelson is one of the largest packers in the San Joaquin valley.

Mrs. James Bruce is expected home late this month. She is motoring in Humboldt county with her son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. Guy Manson of Fresno. Mrs. Manson was Miss Jean Bruce of Menlo Park.

Through the efforts of Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce, a million dollar endowment for a college of business administration at Stanford University is likely to be secured for the institution. He is behind the movement and will succeed as he always does in any undertaking he assumes. This money spent here would be a big asset for Menlo Park. Then, too, the college would attract hundreds of pupils from all portions of the country. Truly Menlo Park has a classic atmosphere and is the center of great educational institutions and more are coming.

A. J. Thomas of Gull Lake, Saskatchewan, Canada, has recently come to Menlo Park and is building a residence on Abner avenue.

James Leo Duff, formerly of Menlo Park, has launched into the advertising business with offices in San Francisco, Chicago and New York. Mr. Duff is a Stanford graduate, where he was known as a clever artist. A clever cartoonist was lost in him when he abandoned sketching for business. He is also a writer of more than ordinary ability. These talents will stand him in good stead in his new enterprise and will no doubt merit him success him success in his new undertaking.

The streets in and about Menlo Park have taken on a new aspect and look attractive since the dry grass has been burned and the debris hauled away. The thanks of the people are due Supervisor John MacBain, who is ever mindful of his constituents. He had men and teams to do the work of clearing the thoroughfares. The village now looks inviting and beautiful.

Mrs. C. E. Denhard and children are here from San Francisco on a visit to Mrs. Denhard's mother, Mrs. Charles Coxin. Mrs. Denhard spent her girlhood in Menlo Park and is always delighted to come to the "old home town"

Mrs. M. McCarthy and her three interesting children have taken a cottage at Seabright for three weeks.

Robert McClymont has departed on an extended trip to Honolulu, where he will combine business with pleasure. He will be absent for several months. He resides when here with his uncle, who some time ago bought the E. W. Hopkins' home on Iak Grove avenue.

Mrs. Michael Maloney, who passed away at her home in Pinole last week at the ripe old age of 79 years, was well konwn here. She was the widow of the late Michael Maloney, a brother of the Maloney Brothers who came to Menlo Park in the early days. The deceased with her husband resided for some years at Redwood City before moving to Alameda county. The children of the couple are all prominent in business in that section.

Thomas Goldrick, a brother of Mrs. John O'Farrell, passed away in San Francisco last Friday after a lingering illness of three months. For many years he was the gardener at the Julia Fleishhacker estate at Atherton, and becoming ill left last May for San Francisco to receive teatment but he became worse and last week succumbed to the malady. The deceased was a native of Ireland, aged 50 years. The funeral took place from St. Mary's Cathedral on Monday last. The interment was in Holy Cross cemetery, Colma.

EDUCATION
EDUCATION: The educational interests of American children are of national concern. While no undue burdens must be forced upon the government, we should not economize at the expense of future generations. The problem of education is such scope that problems of illiteracy, Americanization and the combating of ignorance need the active aid and encouragement of our national government for their proper solution. Popular education and our common schools should have the active support of the national government.
